

Pippy Italian Black Poplar.

| Opulus nigra |

All images used are for representation purposes only.

Pippy Italian Black Poplar.

Also known as 'Mappa' burr when in veneer form, Pippy Poplar is a very decorative timber that is quite light in weight with a fine even texture, but can be woolly, so requires sharp cutters when working. Finishes and polishes well, but may stain unevenly, so best finished with a clear oil or varnish. Uses include table and worktops.

For more information please visit: www.sykestimber.co.uk

Origin. Italy, Croatia.	Density. 450kgs/m ³
Availability. Waney edged kiln dried boards.	Movement in Service. Small.
Grades. Pippy/Burry.	Thicknesses available. 52mm, some thinner boards occasionally available.
Colour. Creamy white with a greyish tinge.	Length and width specification. 2m and longer, 250mm and wider.
Applications. Decorative table and work tops.	Basic price Level. High.
Durability. Non-durable.	Summary. A decorative timber with a lively appearance and good stability in service. Finishes well with clear oil or varnish.