

Alaskan Yellow Cedar.

| *Chamaecyparis*nootkanensis* |

All images used are for representation purposes only.

Alaskan Yellow Cedar.

Recently re-classified into the Cupressus genus, this timber is a light yellow in colour, stable and durable to very durable. Alaskan Yellow cedar is a slow grown timber that is easy to work, carves well and is quite light in weight. In the UK it mainly finds a use for boat decks. Leyland Cypress is a hybrid of this tree and Monterey Cypress (Cupressus macrocarpa).

For more information please visit: www.sykestimber.co.uk

Origin. West Coastal Canada, Alaska	Density. 495kgs/m ³
Availability. Slow grown Square edged well Air-dried boards.	Movement in Service. Small.
Grade. C & better (virtually clear).	Thicknesses available. 2"
Colour. Pale Yellow.	Length and width specification. 6' and longer x 6" wide only.
Applications. Cladding, boat planking, exterior woodwork.	Basic price Level. Medium.
Durability. Durable to very durable.	Summary. A durable and stable timber with a surface hardness roughly 67% greater than Western Red Cedar.